“OASIS” in London.

“Oasis”, the famous English rock group, arrived at Heathrow Airport yesterday, back from Rome where they gave their last concert in Italy.

Hundreds of fans were waiting for them outside the airport. There were so many cars that they created a big traffic jam. When the musicians left the airport, there was such a rush toward them that many fans fell down. Some girls even fainted. A few minutes later, the group got into a black limousine and drove away.

The fans were so disappointed that they started fighting against the policemen who wanted to keep them away.

This morning their agent, Jim Hammer said that the group would not give any interviews as they needed a rest before their London concert at the Albert Hall on Saturday evening.
