- Keep in mind:

We use in order to or to to express purpose (goal).

We can use:

1. _____ or _____ when the subject who does ( or did) something is the same as the subject who has a purpose.

eg: I work hard. I want to succeed in my exam.

or I work hard { in order to succeed in my exam
to succeed in my exam.

2. _____ when the subject who does (did) something is different from the subject.....

eg: I will help you. I want you to do your homework.

I will help you so that you { can do your homework.
will do your homework.

I helped him. I wanted him to do his homework.

I helped him so that he { could do his homework.
would do his homework.

Notice:

If the verb in the main clause is in the present or future, we use so that + subject + _____ or _____ +verb (stem)

- If the verb in the main clause is in the past, we use so that +subject + _____ or _____ +verb (stem).
